Monet: 16 Art Stickers (Dover Art Stickers)

Synopsis

Regarded by many as the greatest of the Impressionists, Claude Monet (1840â “1926) was encouraged early in his career to paint outdoors, accurately rendering atmospheric effects and producing superb works that brilliantly record the transient effects of light. Late in life, beset by increasing blindness, he painted large, vibrantly colored subjects that eventually came to represent the most sophisticated stage of Impressionism. Among the 16 beautiful sticker reproductions of his major works included here are Water Lilies (the Clouds; The Stroll â ” Camille Monet and her Son Jean; Camille Monet in the Garden of Argenteuil; The Road Bridge at Argenteuil; Water-Lily Pond; Young Women in a Boat; and Regatta at Argenteuil.

This collection of stickers is a must have if you're a Monet fan. They include all of his most famous paintings, from water lilies to haystacks; and they can be used for most anything. It's a great set to give to a child who is learning about art, or even those who just like the nice scenery. Under each picture it tells you the name of it, and I especially like the fact that for being stickers, they still have so much detail. I'd recommend them to anyone who is a lover of art, or just likes to decorate things up with a little color.

I love these stickers. I'm old fashioned and love to send real mail - the kind you actually go to the post office and put a stamp on and have to think about. I love putting these on the back of letters as just a little extra touch. Not sure if my recipients enjoy getting them as much as I like sending, but it's a nice way to share my love of Monet and support the lost art of letter writing all at the same time!

I do not know how my friends and the electric company feel about receiving envelopes with stickers like these as sealers on the back ... but I hope they brighten their days a little. When I use them, they are meant to help keep the envelope flap sealed and to be cheery when the recipient starts to open the envelope. Who knows but I enjoy using them from time to time.

LOVE these little masterpieces! I originally bought them because I like to send letters to people but find that the glue used on envelopes does not seal well (regardless of brand) and use these to seal the back. Upon receiving them I HAD to keep my favorites (yet, I don't know what I'll use them for yet!) Whether letter lover, art lover you'll find that these are little gems. I also think that they would make a good gift idea for young ones because all of these artists' sticker packages show the most popular works and names.

These were okay, my son liked them. However, they were too small to see the points of color, brush strokes and dabs of color that makes Monet the great impressionist painter he was. But it did get my son familiar with Monet's work.

Beautiful stickers! I bought these for a friend who loves Monet. The colors are perfect and vibrant and the stickers are the perfect little size. You could use these to decorate notecards, or make some sort of art project with them. I would buy these again, for myself this time!

The Dover Fine Art Stickers books are very small: about 6"x4", containing 4 pages of 4 stickers each. The stickers are okay in appearance, but are small, each less than 3"x2", and when peeled away from their backing sheet do not have a great deal of adhesive power.

Dover's art stickers put the perfect finishing touch on your correspondence (though Gauguin's and Modigliani's nudes may not be suitable for US mail). My family and friends love them. More artists, please, !
