Customer Reviews

This is a book of 32 designs which are based on architecture and buildings. As far as I can see, the cities mostly exist in the imagination as I only recognized a few buildings, etc. It may be that they are real places but that I have never seen them. The styles of the drawings vary quite a bit from very straightforward architectural drawings to more abstract ones. Some will be fairly easy to color and others have very intricate and small details. In addition to the building themselves, there are people, cars, and more details. Usually in city scenes that tend toward architecture, I am not used to seeing these types of details so this will be an unusual and different book to color. The pages are printed on thin white paper which is not perforated. The designs are printed on one side of the page with the back left blank. The designs stop well short of the glued binding and can easily be removed with a pen knife if you so choose. My gel pens and markers all leaked through this paper. My coloring pencils went on well but left a shadow at the back of the page, too. Not a problem, though, as I can put a piece of chipboard or a couple of heavy weight pieces of paper under the page I am working on to keep the ink from leaking through. What is really quite nice about this line of books by Grace Sure is that she is also making them available for you to print additional copies if you purchase the book. You can either purchase the book and get the access to the on-line version. If you prefer, you buy the Kindle version of the book or, at the time I am writing this review, you can use your Kindle Unlimited to borrow it, too. You can decide to print the designs on whatever paper can use in your printer. When I have this option, I use my laser printer on chipboard.

I have numerous coloring books by Grace Sure and for such a wide variety of subjects, she consistently does a great job drawing each image. I have many friends who are artists and more than one of them draws illustrations for adult coloring books. They are suitable for children except there are some pictures that are very detailed. Grace's books are drawn with all levels of coloring in mind. I have Multiple Sclerosis (MS) and it has not been a kind disease to live with. I was diagnosed 15 years ago and I just turned 50 in November. I picked up my first coloring book in October. I had purchased it a long time ago, but I never really took the time to try it out. I had plenty of tools to color with since I used to make scrapbooks. I used to do a lot of things that I can't do anymore because of the effects MS has had on my body. I have nerve damage in my hands, I battle depression and an anxiety disorder that are directly related to the disease, though it's depressing just knowing that I have it, and I also have a vision impairment that isn't correctable. I spend many hours by myself. Instead of going to work, even part-time, I spend 99% of my time in our apartment. After I finished coloring my very first page, I was hooked and I wanted to color everything. I probably couldn't come close to coloring all of my books in my lifetime; and there are some pages that I have to skip. I discovered that reading glasses help more than the glasses I spent $500 for. I like the variety of Grace's books, and since I am able to print the pages myself, I am confident that my paper won't have any issues with bleed-through (be wary of sharpies). I use 110 lb. white card stock and it's available at Walmart. I am very grateful that Grace offered a free preview of her coloring books.
